STATE PRESS AROUSED OVER BREATHITT COUNTY INIQUITY

STEP DOWN, JUDGE HARGIS.

The Democratic party of the State demands that Judge Hargis should resign his position as a member of the State Central Committee for the Tenth Congressional District.

One of his boasts in the past has been his devotion to the Democratic party, and he can now show that devotion by resigning the position he holds on the State Committee. He could have shown it by not asking for the position when the last State Convention met, but he didn't take that view. By trades combinations he succeeded in getting the support of every delegation from the Tenth District except the one from Clark county, if he had then placed the party's interest above his own he would not have sought a "vindication" which he and his friends then knew he could get only at the price of great injury to the party he claims to love so well.

Common decency now demands that he shall retire from the Committee, but a great many people in Kentucky believe that he is beyond the pale of common decency.

We are not acquainted with the party law, and therefore do not know whether or not it is within the power of the Committee to remove Judge Hargis, but if the power exists the Committee owes it to the party to exercise it promptly.

Representing one-sixth of the Democrats of the Tenth District, we protest against Judge Hargis being upon this Committee.—Winchester Democrat.

WANTS DEMOCRATS TO DROP HARGIS.

How much longer is the Democratic party of Kentucky going to remain silent and let a man like Judge James Hargis stay on the State Central Committee? Every Democratic paper in the State that has the interest of the party at heart should demand that he be removed from the Committee. He is a shrewd in every move he makes. Did it occur to you that his leading attorney is the chairman of the State Central Committee? He is in every way using the Democratic party for a shield. The farther matters go the worse they get. Shall the Democratic party allow itself to be placed in the position that this man Hargis is undoubtedly placing it as a shield and backer?—Bourbon News.

JUSTICE AND THAT ONLY.

Ed Callahan and the Hargises claim to want a fair and impartial trial, and yet they object to being tried in Fayette county, where they will undoubtedly get a fair and impartial trial, and demand to be tried in Breathitt county, where they will get a sham and a farce.—Bath County World.

MONEY MUST NOT AVOID.

After long delay, the law has at last begun to work against the Breathitt clan. It may be they will escape entirely, but public sentiment, nevertheless, is strong against them, and for a time, at least, prove a preventative against further lawlessness in Breathitt.—Fleming Gazette.

THE LINES DRAWING CLOSE.

The Hargis party, of Breathitt county, secured from the Court of Appeals a stay of proceedings in Fayette Circuit Court until Feb. 18. The lines are drawing close around these people and they will need all their power and possibly more to escape the law's penalty for their misdeeds.—Owingsville Outlook.

POSITION NO PROTECTION.

If guilty, why should not the Hargises and others be arrested? It is all bosh because a man has a financial or political standing, that any offense against him should not be properly prosecuted. Let the guilty be punished, whatever his position in life may be.—Jesseman Journal.

WANTS HARGIS TO RESIGN.

Judge James Hargis, of Breathitt county, may not be guilty, as charged, at the same time his official connection with the Democratic party as a member of the State Central Committee, is doing the party no good. If he don't see the propriety of resigning that position, some way ought to be devised to declare a vacancy. The Democratic party in Kentucky has enough other burdens to carry.—Georgetown Times.

EXPOSURE DEMANDED.

The time has come for the Breathitt iniquities to be exposed and punished.—Cattlettsburg Press.

CAN'T FIGHT THE WHOLE STATE.

Tough characters of Breathitt county had as well make up their mind that they cannot fight the whole State of Kentucky. The backbone of crime should be broken if it requires the breaking of a few necks.—Adair County News.

USE THE SEARCHLIGHT.

May the searchlight continue to be turned on bloody Breathitt until all the hidden crimes are exposed and the perpetrators are discovered and the punishment they so richly deserve is meted out to them.—Barbourville Mountain Advocate.

DISLIKED THE CONNECTION.

It is time for the Democratic party to unload itself of the leadership of such men as James Hargis, of Breathitt. It is an outrage upon the party to continue a man of his character as one of the State Committeemen. It will be a million about our necks if we do not cast off the burden.—Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.

A STAND OFF.

The contention of Judge Hargis that he couldn't get a fair trial in Fayette might be offset by the suggestion that the Commonwealth couldn't get a fair trial in Breathitt.—Paducah News-Democrat.

A LITTLE CLEANING UP.

The sooner the Democratic party of Kentucky manages to get rid of Judge Hargis, of Breathitt county, as a member of the State Committee the better it will be for the party of the whole State. If Hargis has not enough charges against him, proven or unproven, to disqualify him for holding the position he now holds, we are at loss to know what he could do to further disgrace him with his party. Democracy needs a little cleaning up. We had better do it ourselves than let the Republicans do it for us. If Hargis should be sent to the penitentiary for life, or should be hung, the supposition is that there would be some one elected in his place, especially if the latter fate should overtake him. We do not at present need bandits and murderers to help manage our political affairs.—Glen's Graphic.

THE LAW REACHING OUT.

The arrest will have one good effect, even should the accused be pronounced not guilty. It will cow the lawless element of Breathitt county, and teach them that the strong arm of the law can reach to high places as well as low, and that no man can be shielded from its penalties, no matter how strong the "backing" he imagines he may have behind him.—Crittendon Press.

Men and Women Who Love Much.

Missionary heroes—who are they? Those who give up their lives, who have succumbed to fire and sword and pestilence, that the gospel might be preached in land of darkness? Yes, surely, but heroism may be more or less than martyrdom. There are those who have, for Christ's sake, suffered deeper pains than the pains of death.

There have been the heroes who, for twelve years the faithful missionaries waited in Fou Chow for their first convert; five in Japan; eleven in Africa; eleven in New Zealand; thirteen in Madagascar; in Tahiti, seventeen! Thirty-six years among the terrible Maories in Southwestern Africa.

There are the hospital and zealous heroes and heroines. Those who seek out women and widows imprisoned in the walls of their own homes, and minister to them; who care for invalids with the most loathsome diseases, or who spend their lives in leper hospitals for Christ's sake. Here is a note from the Intelligencer about Miss Ada Boyd's zealous work:

"She picks her way up narrow, dirty, staircases, sits often in little rooms where she is exposed to contagion and vermin, and yet the idea of her being a heroic worker for Christ in Blinnapour seems almost incredible to her."

William Carey waited six years before he baptised his first convert. It was seven years before Adoniram Judson brought one soul to Christ. Robert Morrison spent six years in China before he saw the first fruits of his work, and when he had seen there thirty-six years there were not above six native Christians in the empire.

May the examples of those who have suffered, and even given up their lives, for Christ's sake, work in us greater zeal and courage. Be with those who are bearing heavy burdens, that others may know Christ, and may we not fall in our part of this great work. Minister to those against whose condition every refined sense revolts. To contrast our own surroundings with these will be to get some idea of the heroism of the missionary.

Away from Home One Way, at Home Another.

Many are less courteous in their own than in other homes; they indulge tempers there that are admirably curbed elsewhere; most vivacious as guests, they are morose in their domestic circle; prayerful at the church assembly, they are voiceless around their own fireside. Such, do not honor themselves nor their homes, they are void of proper self-respect; neither do they glorify God, for he rejecteth glory that would be publicly conferred upon him by those who do not honor him in secret.

KANSAS OIL PRODUCER APPEAL TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Legislature Establishes a Refinery.

The bill providing for the establishment of a state oil refinery was passed by the Kansas House of Representatives 91 to 30. The bill had already passed the Senate. Under its provisions a refinery will be erected at Peru, Kansas, and another penitentiary will be built there to provide convict labor for the refinery. An appropriation of $410,000 is made for the building and maintaining the refinery and penitentiary.

TELEGRAM TO PRESIDENT.

The Kansas Oil Producers' Association sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt:

"The undersigned, representing oil producers of Kansas, and a caring for the intelligent and industrious people of the State, and voicing the spirit of American fair play appeal to you and through your Secretary of Interior and by you to Congress for help in the undertaking of the Legislature of the State to protect the oil industry of the State from the oppression of the Standard oil trust."

BOYCOTT DECLARED.

"Because the Legislature presumes to exercise the natural function of government by legislating for the welfare and protection of industries within the borders of the State against oppression of all monopolies, and because the Legislature proposed to try the experiment of a public oil refinery as a means of preserving and making profitable the oil industry, the General Manager of the Standard Oil Company declared a boycott upon Kansas oil, and one of his subordinates insulted our people by expressing in public prints the groundless fear that they will destroy the company's property."

PROMISES BROKEN.

"The Kansas oil field was developed upon the promises of fair play and good prices by the Standard Oil Company, but now that the supply is sufficient for the needs of the company it has reduced the price below profit, and men who have invested their money will lose it, and the field will languish unless the Government, State and nation refuse to confer upon any company additional rights and franchises, and turns in other direction and legislates for the people awhile."

Not for Self alone.

Homes should exist for themselves only no more than men should live for themselves alone. There is a community of home interests as surely as of human interests, and each home is under the responsibility of being a center from which shall radiate influences permeating other homes with high ideals of helpfulness for their inmates, and reverence for God who ordained the home.

Rev. R. B. Garrett, of Portsmouth, Va., who was pastor of the Baptist Church at Mayaville years ago, has declined a call to return to this church. According to a dispatch from Norfolk he was offered the pastorate at almost his own price, but he prefers to remain where he is. Rev. Garrett is well known here, having married Miss Anna Laura Howe.

PENALTY FOR CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPONS.

New York Ordinance Raises the Fine To $250 and Authorizes Imprisonment.

An ordinance has been adopted by the Board of Aldermen, of New York City, empowering the City Magistrates to assess a fine of $250 on persons found carrying concealed weapons. The former penalty was $10 and had little tendency, according to the police, toward breaking up the practice.

The new ordinance empowers City Magistrates not only to impose the fine, but to commit the carrier of heavier weapons for six months. The ordinance gives the Police Commissioner power to issue permits for carrying concealed weapons as at present.

Talks By The Ad Man.

Mr. Merchant: Admit to yourself that advertising is one of the forces that enters into your business, and go at it this year as if you really believed in it and intended to get out of it all that it's worth. Pay attention to your copy, keep it fresh and new. Give the matter thought and attention, and you'll be glad you did it at the end of the year.

Get the advertising habit in your business, for your own benefit. No merchant is doing so much business but what he would like to do just a little more. Go after it with a strong and dignified newspaper advertising campaign. Every hour and dollar you spend in thought and investment in your advertising will pay good dividends.—Morning Herald.

A Test of Honesty.

It has been agreed that newspaper descriptions are an infallible test of a man's honesty. They will sooner or later discover the man. If he is dishonest he will cheat the printer in some way—declare he has paid when he has not sent the money in the mail which was lost—will take the paper and not pay for it on the ground that he never subscribed for it, or move off and leave it coming to the postoffice he left. Numbers of alleged Christians are dishonest in this, at least, and the printer's books will tell fearful tales on judgement day.—Exchange.

The Secret of Health.

Senator Pettus, of Alabama, is eighty-four years old and has never been known to take medicine since he came to Washington, writes a correspondent of the New York World.

"How do you keep so well?" asked Sergeant-at-Arms Ransdell, who has a little apothecary shop for the benefit of Senators. "Don't you ever see a doctor?"

"Oh, yes, I see a doctor," Senator Pettus said, "I go and talk with my physician frequently. He gives me prescriptions and I never have 'em filled, and consequently I always feel good."

Better to Prevail Than to Punish.

Joseph Folk, the newly elected Governor of Missouri, believes the State can better serve the people by preventing crime than by punishing it. In a special message to the Legislature he asks for the enactment of a law to make the carrying of firearms a felony, punishable by a fine or a term in the penitentiary, the exact penalty to be determined by the jury. If such a statute is passed the Governor says the State will be saved in criminal costs not less than $100,000 a year.

Give them Justice—But Justice is Not Wasted.

The guilt of Hargis, Callahan, and their associates is not to be determined by the public or by the newspapers. If it is to be the case these men would have been hanged long ago. But a grand jury of the State, after a more thorough investigation of the evidence that has been made by the newspapers or the public, has formally indicted James Hargis, Ed Callahan, Alex Hargis and Elbert Hargis for murder, and the people of Kentucky demand, and have a right to demand, that these indictments be brought to trial in a court where a fair trial can be had. This, the defendants are resisting with all the power at their command, and the power at their command has been heretofore so great that not only have they completely dominated their own county, but to a certain extent they dominated the executive and legislative government of the State. They stand charged with implication in the horrible crimes that have made Breathitt county an anarchy of assassination. The evidence against them is very strong. Feitner's deposition is but a part of that evidence, and as startling as that it contains no material allegation that is not in some way otherwise corroborated. If this evidence against them is false or misleading let them be vindicated in a competent and impartial court: if they are guilty as charged let them pay the penalty of their crimes and the State be rid of the infamy of their rule. That, and nothing less, will now satisfy the people of this Commonwealth.—Courier-Journal.

Gov. Hanly, of Indiana, Signs Moore Temperance Bill.

At Indianapolis on Feb. 15 Gov. Hanly affixed his signature to the Moore Temperance act, and that measure, which makes a remonstrance signed by a majority of the legal voters of a ward or township effective against the traffic for a period of two years, will go into effect with the publication of the law. Although the Governor recommended the measure in his inaugural address, and though it was known that he had used his influence to secure its passage, a combined effort was made by the brewery and saloon elements to have him veto it.

Important that South and Central American Republics Pay their Debts.

The President's message, transmitting to the Senate the new Santo Domingo Protocol, was read at executive session. Not more than six or seven Senators were present. The leading feature of the message was, that in order to maintain the Monroe doctrine, it is necessary for the United States to see that just claims contracted by South and Central American republics, and those of the West Indies should be paid, and that therefore, it is in the interest of peace for this Government to take over control of revenues in Santo Domingo. The subject of the Monroe Doctrine was discussed at some length, especially as regards relations of the United States to the republics of the South.

In protecting these republics, and guaranteeing their territorial integrity, it is said in the message to be necessary to see that just debts and obligations contracted by these republics are paid.

God cannot be glorified elsewhere by those who fail to glorify Him in the seclusion of their homes. Our talk and doing must conform to His will as closely in the living-room as in the consecrated meeting.

PURPLE AND GOLD.

The first issue of the High School Journal, "Purple and Gold" will appear Thursday, February 23. Every person interested in the school, in the development of the children of the city should subscribe for Purple and Gold. The managers will make it a successful journal, and advertisers will do well to consider its columns as an advertising medium.

LEGAL TRIAL DEMANDED.

The Breathitt county grand jury is now in session at Jackson and it is the opinion of not a few that the Breathitt county accused, who are wanted in Fayette county will have themselves indicted and then demand a speedy trial hoping to come clear, when they would set up the plea that once tried and acquitted bars all attempt for conviction under the same charge. Should this report prove correct then for a certainty would it appear that justice is not what these accused want. But they can be doubly sure of one thing, that public sentiment will not be quieted until these cases have been tried legally.

SOME DAY.

One of these days after some person has been run over and killed, and after the city has been made to pay a large damage suit, will this horse jockeying business, a nuisance to the city, come to a close.

LETCHER COUNTY.

WHITESBURG, KY.

The Republican primary election for County officers has been filed for April 11th, and local politics are warming up.

The "Letcher County News" will, in all probability, launch its initial number about March 1st. N. M. Webb will be editor and Sam Collins local editor. It will be non-partisan.

Mrs. S. S. Cassidy has about recovered from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. "Baby Ruth" has been quite sick also, but is much better, while Master Leroy Cassidy has been bravely combating the whooping-cough for several weeks, and seems to be getting the best of the fight.

Rev. Thos. L. Mosley, of the Presbyterian Church is conducting a select school at the Kentucky Hotel, with about 28 enrolled pupils. He is a highly educated gentleman and a splendid teacher.

It is expected that land companies will begin buying again when Spring opens. The Mineral Development Company, for whom S. S. Cassidy is office engineer, owns already about 7,500 acres in Letcher county, most of which is splendid coal lands.

Circuit Court convened Monday The Criminal Docket is not large owing to the fact that development and education are making rapid strides in Letcher and the long-haired fellow who used to perch around on the spurs of Pine Mountain on mossy logs with Winchester in hand, whistling the "Sourwood Mountain" and singing "John Hardy" is seldom seen and he will soon be known no more for ever.

Pine Mountain Lodge, No. 462, (I. O. O. F.) which was instituted here about Sept. 1st, is getting along very well. Following are its officers: (Judge) S. E. Baker, N. B., (Capt.) John A. Webb, V. G., David Hays, Sec., Jesse Day, Treas., S. S. Cassidy, Warden.

THE FEW DEMOCRATS in this part of the state, as far as I can hear, want Allie Young to be the next Governor of Kentucky. They have full faith in his ability, integrity and Democracy, and he has always been a champion of the Great Common People. Like Goebel, he lays no claim to aristocratic ancestry; but it can be said of his ancestry that his father was one of the brainiest men Kentucky ever produced, and there is not to be found in all Christendom a nobler woman than his mother, although they were not able, when Allie "came into this breathing world", to feed him with a silver spoon or hang a jeweled canopy above cradle.

die. Men of narrow conceptions, smaller brain and infinitely smaller "caliber" in every way, have sought to relegate him to the political bone-yard; but he is not ready to go there; the Democrats of Kentucky, who wear not the collar of the State-house ring, are not ready for him to go there, and it will be a long time before some blooming young Prince Hamlet, of the School of Accident will dig up his skull and say, "Alas! poor Yorrick! I knew him well Horatio."

St. Louis Wesleyan College To Be Rebuilt As Soon As The Weather Breaks.

The Kentucky Wesleyan College, which was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning of last week, will be rebuilt at Winchester and the work of rebuilding it will begin as soon as the weather permits. This action will be taken pursuant with the decision of the Board of Education of the Kentucky Conference, M. E. Church, South, which met at the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, Friday and deliberated the greater portion of the day.

In an interview Dr. Taylor, President of the Board said: "A committee from Winchester appeared before the Board and expressed the desire of the community of Winchester to render every assistance in their power toward rebuilding the building and offered to contribute whatever sum might be necessary to replace the building over and above the $20,000 insurance and the salvage remaining from the fire. The Board assured them that if this was done every effort would be made to complete the building and have it ready by the September term of school."

It was necessary to replace the building over and above the $20,000 insurance and the salvage remaining from the fire. The Board assured them that if this was done every effort would be made to complete the building and have it ready by the September term of school. "This will leave to the Board the expense of furnishing the building and replacing the library. Suitable arrangements were made the day after the fire for the continuation of school work during the present term and only one day was lost and there will be no interruption in carrying on the college work regularly."

MT. STERLING, KY.

February Court.

About 1,300 cattle on the market and among that number were some pretty fair steers. Trade was slow but prices were good. The best 1000-lb. steers sold at 44¢. This price was for a few tops. $3.75 to $4.25 was bulk of sales. Yearlings at 4 to 4.25; heifers at 3 to 4¢. The latter price for some fat ones. Cows at 2 1/2 to 3¢.

Not as large crowd at the pens as usual, but the day was mean and that kept good many away. Quite a number of cattle remained unsold at night.

We caught a few sales:
Cas Goff, of Bourbon Co., bought ten 550-lb. steers of Vanhose & Keeton at $4.15. Mr. Goff also bought five 1100-lb. oxen of Laff Riserer at 4¢.

L. C. Lyle sold six 925 lb to Henry Hall at $4.25.

Cas Goff bought a bunch of 900 lb steers at 4¢ from Thos. Cooper. Mr. Goff bought between forty and fifty cattle from various parties.

So H. Downing, of Fayette Co., bought six 700-lb. steers of Robt. Tipton at $3.25.

Mr. Denton, of Fayette Co., bought a lot of 600 lb heifers at 3¢. Allen & Arnett sold four 1100 lb. steers to Lin Moberly at 4¢. A good many other sales made during the day that we did not get but at about the same prices we have given.

HORSES AND MULES.

Horses were in good demand and a good many sold during the day. Flugs sold at 75 to $80; medium horses at 90 to $125, and some good horses at 145 to $155. No fine horses sold.

Mules were in much better demand than last court and a good many sold during the day.

R. C. Gatewood sold a fine pair of 16 hand mare mules to Gentry Bros. at $425.

Sixteen hand mules, not heavy, sold at 165 to $180; 15 1/2-hand mules at $150; 15-hand mules at 75 to $140; small mules at 90 to $110.

Trade was good and several car loads sold during the day.

HUSTLER.

In a Modern Store Room.

The opening of the Busy Bee Cash Store on last Saturday was very successful. The store room is of city design. It is well lighted front and rear; is provided with basket merchandise and cash carriers. Each department is distinct and perfect order and system prevail. Their suit rooms are perfect as is also their clothing and carpet departments. The people know how great hustlers the Oldham Bros. & Co. are when they consider their stock was totally destroyed January 26, some days late adjusters settled their claims, after which they purchased a new store room, fitted it up with shelving provided furniture, went East and purchased a large stock of merchandise and were open and doing business on February 18th.

Electric Railroad.

The Campton Railway Co. has been incorporated for the purpose of building and operating an electric railroad from this place to the L. & E. near Glencairn. The route has already been surveyed and a good grade is attainable, and the road can be cheaply built. The building of this road will be of incalculable advantage to Campton and will be a gold mine to its owners. The price that must necessarily be paid for the hauling of freight from Torrent is enormous, and passengers pay one dollar for a ten mile ride. With an electric line from here to the L. & E., freight and passengers could be transported so much more cheaply and expeditiously that the saving to the people would be almost incalculable.

Let's all root for the electric trolley line.—Campton (Ky). Courier.

Will Rise Phoenix Like.

Watson Lodge, I. O. O. F., has made a deal with Mrs. E. S. Apperson and is now the owner of the Masonic Temple site. A modern three-story building will be put up at once, with lodge rooms to accommodate the benevolent orders of the city on the second and third floors, and on the first floor and basement will be store rooms. The committee informs us that this building, now a wreck, will rise from the ashes to adorn the city. The lot and material went at $9,000. In 1903 Mr. Harlan again tried for the nomination, but was again defeated.

Greater, Grander, More Powerful Than Ever!

THE Busy Bee Cash Store Arises Phoenix Like from the Ashes and are now ready to greet their many friends and patrons with a cordial welcome to their ELEGANT NEW STORE on South Maysville Street, adjoining the Opera House site.

All the buyers for the BUSY BEE CASH STORE thronged every market East and West as soon as the fire consumed all their stock in Mt. Sterling; buying New Up-to-Date Goods in every line handled by us for our New Store. Not a stone has been left unturned to make our opening stock for the New Store, the Grandest, Most Complete and Best Bought Stock of New Merchandise ever opened up in the City of Mt. Sterling.

Our buyers searched the markets with the tenacity of blood hounds for bargains and new things for every department. We will show you new, pretty stuff at such unheard of Low Prices that it will tickle the taste of the most fantastic. You will scarcely believe your ears when you hear our Low Prices on Bran New Stuff.

REMEMBER! We have not only put back in our store every line of merchandise that we formerly handled, and put them in stronger and better and more up-to-date than they were, but we have added several new lines to our already big store, and we will now show you the grandest stock of Bran New Stuff in Every Department that was ever opened up in Any City of this size in the Good Old State of Kentucky.

Our friends have been loyal to us. We appreciate it, and we show our appreciation by adding to the City this great store, by giving our patrons a chance to buy absolutely every article they buy this season from a stock that has not a single item in it that is not fresh and new, by naming prices on this great stock that will be a New Year's gift to every purchaser.

We have also added a Complete Line of Wall Paper to our stock and will show you pretty patterns from 4 cents up.

We extend to one and all a cordial invitation to visit us in our new home and partake of the good things we have bought for you.

Very Respectfully,

Oldham Bros. & Co.

Chicago's Candidate for Mayor

John Maynard Harlan was unanimously nominated for Mayor of Chicago by the republican city convention. All except forty-two of the 1,041 delegates were for him prior to the meeting of the convention.

Mr. Harlan, who is a lawyer, is a son of John M. Harlan, associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. In 1901 he was a candidate before the republican convention for the nomination, but was defeated. In 1903 Mr. Harlan again tried for the nomination, but was again defeated.

Mr. Harlan was born in Frankfort, Ky., in 1864. He has resided in Chicago since 1888. Mr. Harlan in addressing the convention after his nomination said that the Republican party under the great leadership of President Roosevelt is "the champion of the unorganized many against the aggressions of the highly organized and selfish few," adding: "It stands for equal opportunity and a square deal for all."

The Government has never issued a fifteen dollar bill, but some enterprising counterfeiter made one and passed it. The bill, now in Chief Wikie's possession, was made by adding a 1 to a five-dollar note. The fifteen-dollar bill was generally circulated in South Carolina until it reached a bank, when it was sent to Washington with this inquiry: Do you issue a fifteen-dollar bill?—because I have one.

Regulation of Freight Rates.

The Ohio Shippers' Association adopted resolutions demanding the passage of the Eech-Townsend bill by the Senate and congratulating the President on his vigorous action toward securing legislation for the regulation of railway freight rates.

Practical Temperance.

The announcement that life insurance companies are contemplating the making of special rates for total abstainers from alcoholic drinks is another indication of trend of a practical temperance movement which promises to be so far more potent in the promotion of societies or political prohibition movements. Many large corporations and business firms have adopted the policy of making sobriety a sine qua non of qualification in the employment of men, thus placing a premium upon temperance and making temperance a bar to employment. This is a practical business idea, based upon the common sense principle that the best service can be secured only from men who keep their brains clear and who live soberly. It appeals to the self interest of men, in a way that makes it more influential than mere moralizing, or than the demand for making men sober by legislation. Temptation to intemperance of all kinds will never be taken out of the world, but when the business world gives special emphasis to the advantage and necessity to temperance noteworthy progress is made in the promotion of general sobriety and right living.

A Real Snake Story

While hauling logs in Sinnema housing logging district, Clinton county, Pennsylvania, Winslow Euslake needed a lever, and secured what appeared to be a piece of springy wood. He made up his mind and used the lever for a twist, or, fastening it with chains. When he arrived at the sawmill he took it off and flung it into the yard. As he was about to return home he noticed a peculiar bulge on the stick and decided to saw it in two on the shingle saw. It was then discovered that the supposed stick was a blacksnake 7 feet 4 inches long, frozen stiff and so covered with mud as to disguise its real nature. The bulge proved to be Eastlake's pocketbook, containing $11, lost near where he loaded the logs, last fall. The money was in good condition.

Only One Way.

Jehn Wananaker, the successful merchant, says: "There is only one way to advertise, and that is to hammer your name, your location, and your business so thoroughly into the head of the people that they would continually turn their heads to your store. When the day comes that the newspapers are dead, the people are near the edge of their grace, with no one to write their epitaph."

HEIRESSSES TAKE PRIZES.

Moneyed American Girl Called a Matrimonial Hawk Among English Noblemen.

The capture of the eligibles by the American heiress corps has led to a remarkable development which appears to have escaped notice.

There was a time in the near past when even a moderately good-looking girl in London "society" treated all bachelors but elder sons with ill-concealed contempt. For her there was, apparently, no choice between the titled or rich and spinsterhood—until age and disappointment diminished her ambition!

Since the American heiresses—that newly acclimatized matrimonial hawk—has come to England to stay, the ordinary "society" girl has become much more reasonable.

There was a time when the latter would not accept the offer of any man connected with finance or trade, however promising his prospects, but now most of our unmarried women will pursue that "inferior" game as eagerly as if they were cornered.

The younger son, too, is no longer so completely ignored as he was, and in the columns of the Morning Post, almost daily now, may be read announcements of engagements between popular "society" girls and penniless well-connected men.

"How do the American heiresses come to hear so soon as they do of the latest eligible who has entered the marriage market?" is a question which is continually asked. It is a fact that no young man who has been in the title starts life in London without his presence being immediately discovered by some heiress, or heiresses, in the United States!

The American colony in England has established itself in a most favorable position, and generally perceives at once when the eligible fledgeling breaks into the world. Without delay the news is privately announced in America, and even some of the newspapers in that country herald the fact to their readers!

Moreover, the ladies of the American colony make a point of becoming acquainted with him, and "nursing" him until "reinforcements" arrive from across the Atlantic!

The intelligence, energy, enterprise and ingenuity shown by the American girls and women in this country have entirely defeated the ordinary British chaperon, who now more or less leaves her charges to hunt for themselves and where they will!

CLAY PIPE DAYS NOW PAST

They Are No Longer Smoked and the Brier Fills a Long-Felt Want.

The pipe that you "color" is scarcely ever seen nowadays. Forty years ago every little country town had its expert who made and baked clay pipes, as well as the smokers who bought them by the dozen at a time. To-day you may walk any street and look long before you see a clay pipe in a shop window. The last club in London in which the long clay pipe was smoked was the Arundel, where the old men used to come from habit and the young as a compliment to the past. Even the meerschaum, the clay pipe of the "classes," is seldom seen. For a meerschaum is more exacting than a wife.

Some years ago—ten, perhaps—there was an interregnum of the corn-cob pipe. For the world went round that Mark Twain had a net bag by the side of his writing desk filled with corn-cob pipes at a penny apiece. He smoked them one after the other, as G. R. Sims is said to have used the sheaf of sharpened pencils that point his prose and verse. So for a moment in the history of smoking the corn-cob pipe ran per ora virorum. But men found that they could smoke a corn-cob pipe without being as witty as Mark Twain and without being as comfortable as their ordinary selves. And the so-called brier asserted its staying power.

Author of "Ben Hur" Died at Indiana Home.

Surrounded by his family, Gen. Lew Wallace, author of "Ben Hur," one time Minister to Turkey and a veteran of the Mexican and Civil Wars, died at his home at Crawfordsville, Ind., on Feb. 15, aged seventy-eight. The health of General Wallace has been waning for several years, and for more than a year he had been unable to properly assimilate food. When told by the physician that he was dying, General Wallace was perfectly calm. Bidding them farewell, he said: "I am ready to meet my Maker," and lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he did not recover.

A Night Alarm.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Sick Headache

When your head aches, there is a storm in the nervous system, centering in the brain.

This irritation produces pain in the head, and the turbulent nerve current sent to the stomach causes nausea, vomiting. This is sick headache, and is dangerous, as frequent and prolonged attacks weaken the brain, resulting in loss of memory, inflammation, epilepsy, fits, dizziness, etc.

Alay this stormy, irritated, aching condition by taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

They stop the pain by soothing, strengthening and relieving the tension upon the nerves—not by paralyzing them, as do most headache remedies.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do not contain opium, morphine, chloral, cocaine or similar drugs. "Sick headache" is hereditary in my family. My father suffered a great deal from it, and I have inherited it for a day or so at a time. During a very severe attack of headache I took Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and they relieved me almost immediately. Since then I take them when I feel the spell coming on and it is at once broken. JOHN J. McFARLAN, Pres. S. B. Eng. Co., South Bend, Ind.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by all druggists. They guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it does not, return it for a full refund. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Up to 1860 any field in the good land district of Mason county would grow hemp, considered the hardest crop to raise. Now likely there is scarcely a field in the county that will bring the top, owing to the impoverishment of the land by tobacco culture.

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7, 1902. Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie on my back nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Sergio Quaker

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day?

JAP PROGRESS A MIRACLE.

Count Okuma Tells of Awakening of Island from Lethargy of 50 Years Ago.

Count Okuma, in a brief article in the Monthly Review, points out the miracle of Japanese progress. Fifty years ago that island "was awakened from the dream of two centuries and a half and her door turned slowly on its rusty hinges." St. Francis Xavier preached the Christian religion in the land of the rising sun as far back as 1552, and it is said he made a million converts. Then came Portuguese missionaries, who, the writer says, were more intent upon plotting against the independence of the country than in the spread of their religion. But for this, the count says, Japan would have been a Christian country. When the United States sent Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry to Japan 50 years ago that officer, Count Okuma says, "by his friendly action, showed us that every nation was not like the Portuguese intriguer. When we came to realize that in a state of isolation no civilized existence is possible we at once opened our doors to the outside world and were admitted into the comity of nations." In the short time which has intervened since Perry's visit to Japan, which had been for 25 centuries a hermit nation, with no other civilization or religion than that which it had received second-hand from China, through Korea, has now become the envy and object of admiration of all Asiatic countries and of some of those of Europe. This rapid advance in the arts and appliances of civilization has scarcely a parallel in the world's history. In less than half a century Japan has thrown off the medieval feudalism which it had for its local basis, has abandoned its exclusiveness and has adopted the civilization of the most enlightened nations, until in the arts, in manufacturing skill and in methods, machinery and the appliances of industry it has little more to learn from any nation. This, as Count Okuma justly remarks, "is one of the most perplexing problems in the history of the world."

MIKADO IS A HARD WORKER.

Great Capacity of Emperor of Japan for Labor Brings Praise from His Subjects.

To sagacity of this high order is united a capacity for hard work and the habit of devoting close personal attention to public business. As one Japanese writer says: "His majesty makes his appearance in his place of official business at eight a. m., ready to attend to affairs of state, and he will sometimes continue at work till midnight." His ministers all ways have ready access to his presence at all hours, and I have the highest authority for the statement that the attention he gives to important matters is of no perfunctory nature, but that, on the contrary, the imperial sanction of any measure implies a careful examination of the details as well as approval of the principles involved.

The emperor has always manifested deep interest in military affairs. In times of peace he shows this by participation in military reviews and maneuvers, and in the graduation ceremonies of military and naval colleges, and by his indefatigable personal concern at all times in the success of the policy which has brought Japan's military and naval establishment to their present efficiency.

Gleisener Fishing.

Fewer men have been lost from Gloucester dishing vessels during the past 12 months than any year since 1865, while, on the other hand, the financial loss on vessels wrecked, which were valued at $130,800, is greater than in any but three previous years since 1850. The insurance on the vessels amounted to $88,158.

CAME BACK TO HIS OWN.

Reflections of a Busy City Man Who Had Been Away from the Noise.

The man who lives in a great city becomes accustomed to its noises. Then some day the man goes out of town, to the mountains or the quietude of rural life, says the New York Sun.

"That's what I did," said a man whose place of business is in old John street. "I was in the quietest part of Maine. For two weeks I had to fight for sleep."

"The quietude, the awful stillness, of the night actually kept me awake until at last I had to resort to opiates. I had heard of this sort of thing before, but I had never experienced it. When I returned to the city I was like a boy coming home."

"The first day I was at my desk I shoved up the window. The old familiar cry of 'hey-up' from the teamsters sounded comforting. Then the clang of the trolley car gongs broke in upon me and I felt good."

"I heard the battle of the teamsters just below—that old fight for space and place that goes on the year round in the city. I honed to see them go at one another in bulldog style."

"Not a sound I had heard for a year had changed. The noise was no greater, no less. I think if any one man had dropped out I should have noticed it. This had a sort of consolation in it. 'They are all here,' I murmured to myself."

"Then I looked out toward the crush at the crossing of Nassau street. I saw the pushcart man fighting to hold his own. He looked so natural."

"At the opposite corner I saw a peddler whom I had seen there for years. I have bought my shoe laces and trinkets of him for so long that I should feel lonely if he were to go."

"And when I started for home that first day on my return, the same old policeman helped me across, just as he had done these many years. I spoke to him and thanked him more sincerely than I had ever done before."

"He didn't know I had been away. He didn't miss me, but I'd missed him."

"When I went to bed that night I threw open my window and rattled asleep to the noise and rattle of the elevated trains. I had returned to my own."

IS LONDON HABITABLE?

This Question Has Been Agitated by Great Men of England Since Elizabeth.

"Is London habitable?" is the query boldly propounded by the ingenious writer "John of London." Ever since the days of Elizabeth men have exercised their minds over the growth of London, and for the most part, quite unnecessarily. But now there seems to have been reached a point beyond which the expansion of London can only kill the town. The bigness of London is sapping its social interest and habitable charm, and living in London is becoming an insupportable and increasing worry of locomotion, private houses are being driven further outward by flats every year, and no one can be justly said to "live" in a flat.

The question becomes more difficult year by year; whether to pay high rent for centrality and convenience, or low rent for rural surroundings, and a wearisome double journey. It is a very serious question. London is certainly inhabitable, but it is only cheerfully inhabitable by the rich, who can get away from it as often as they like. Imagination boggles at the thought of what a man would be like who lived year in and year out in London, as people did in our grandfathers' days, and never went away, week-ends being unknown, and bank holidays still a possibility of the future. It takes the modern Londoner two hours every day to get to and from his work, by train, tram and bus, and the spectacle of working and inhabiting London is one of colossal strain and inconvenience.

CURES WITHOUT STOMACH DOSS.

Byomei Cures Catarrh by Simple Breathing. W. S. Lloyd Refunds Money if it Fails to Cure.

A long stride toward solving the mystery of curing catarrh was taken with the discovery of Hyomei. In fact, the percentage of cures by this treatment proves it equal to the final tests.

The folly of taking medicine into the stomach to cure catarrh of the nose, throat and lungs, has been realized by physicians, but not until Hyomei was known, had they a practical method that would obviate stomach drugging.

A complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1, and consists of a neat pocket inhaler that can be used anywhere without attracting attention, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. Extra bottles of Hyomei cost but 50c.

Breathing Hyomei through the inhaler, every particle of air that enters the nose, throat and lungs is charged with a healing balm that soothes and allays all irritation, kills the catarrhal germs and enriches the blood with additional ozone.

W. S. Lloyd has so much faith in the power of Hyomei to cure catarrh, that he is selling it under his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not give positive relief.

Tender Sentiments at Home.

How much like mockery are the pious inscriptions hung on the walls of the many houses that are virtually temples of discord, acrimony and strife. If the feeling is not in the heart, let us have the consistency to take the sentiment from the frame. But a more excellent way will be to surcharge the very atmosphere of our homes with the spirit of the most pious and tender sentiments ever culled from page, secular or divine.

Drugs are the bane of human existence. Burdock Blood Bitters cures it, promptly, permanently. Regularize and tone the stomach.

Obeying Parents.

Servant's glory God in the home by doing well all that is implied in "sweeping the corners": children by obeying every parental command and not in violation of divine law; grand-parents by being cheerful in the midst of their infirmities. Parents by making it a school of Christ and a help to paradise.

Coughs and colds, down to the very borderland of consumption, yield to the soothing healing influence of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

IN FAMOUS FRENCH SALONS

Mme. Necker's Drawing-Rooms Sounded Their Death Knell—...or Husband a Patron.

Mme. Necker's salon is one of the most famous in French history, yet, declares Nineteenth Century, it was here that the first death knell of the salon was sounded. It was not unusual that the former girl president of the Academie des Beaux Arts at Lausanne should, when opportunity was given her, seek out the lights and leaders of literary thought in Paris. Very soon after her marriage to the great financier a distinguished little circle used to gather round her in the Rue Clerly. M. Necker himself counted for something in the formation of his wife's salon. A rich man's patronage and protection had already been found to be useful to gens d'etres and philosophers. Moreover, M. Necker, in those early days, was just what the husband of a saloniere should be. He was present, but he was unobtrusive; a kind and generous host, but not too actively interested in the talk which went on about him. It was the part of the hostess to lead the conversation, to draw out her guests. This, we understand, Mme. Necker did with rather too much zeal. Her reception of her friends was, if anything, a little too cordial. It was hardly to be expected that the strenuous daughter of the Swiss pastor who a few months previously had been struggling to earn her bread should have the repose of manner and the well-bred assurance of the grandes dames of Paris, who, even while they criticized, approved and helped to make her salon famous. Mme. Necker through out her life was nervous, excitable, morbidly anxious to do the right thing, and too often said the wrong one. Diderot complained that she persecuted him into attending her salon, and was fatuous enough to mistake the homage she offered so lavishly to every living writer for tribute to his personal charms. He was not long, however, in finding out his mistake, and was one of the first to bear witness to the extraordinary purity of soul, the child morality which so offended Grimm, of their mutual hostess.

CHIN KEY TO AFFECTION.

Capacity for Love is Always Judged by That Feature of a Man or Woman.

The chin has always been considered to be a means of judging the possessor of character, and it is surprising to witness the faith many people have in that special portion of the face, says the Philadelphia Ledger. Many a man has been trusted because he had a firm chin, the observer not realizing that the difference between firmness and obstinacy or brute force is sometimes hard to distinguish.

But it seems that the chin is also to be considered in affairs of the heart, and this reveals interesting possibilities to the student in physiognomy. The pointed, narrow chin points to an unsatisfied longing for an ideal, and is, therefore, unfortunate in love, as its ideals are seldom found. On the other hand, a square, narrow chin shows a loving nature, and its owner will marry the man she loves, be he rich or poor, above or below in the social scale. It is dangerous for such a nature to be unfortunate in love, as it will seriously affect her nature, and she is sometimes of a jealous disposition. A broad, round chin betrays an ardent, loving, faithful disposition—one that may be trusted as capable of an ardent, steadfast affection for its object.

The indented chin, which is often wrongly confounded with a dimpled chin, shows an enormous longing for affection and a miserable effort to get such love is denied to its possessor.

So, after all, it may be the chin that is responsible for many cases of a mutual attraction which seems incomprehensible to the mere observer of the proceeding.

Reducing with Centuries.

The human foot is becoming smaller. The masculine foot of 20 centuries ago was about 12 inches long. The average man's foot of to-day is easily fitted with a number eight and a half shoe, which is about ten and a half inches in length.

TAG NECESSARY FOR CHILD

St. Louis Man Says Each One Should Wear an Indelible Ink Label Bearing Name.

"It seems to me that the method which now obtains in so many armies of having the soldiers wear a badge or label on which is printed or written in indelible ink the name and address of the man as a means of identification is one that might be applied by mothers for their young children," Mr. C. H. Polston said in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "There is hardly a mother who has not at some time or another found her child lost for a more or less extended period of time, and though they are generally successful in finding them, how much worry and anxiety might be saved if the child was 'tagged' after the manner of the soldiers in certain countries. The label or badge ought to be made of some practically indestructible or at least excellent wearing material, such as, for example, leather, and the most convenient way of placing it on the child would be by attaching it to a chain or cord to be worn around the neck. The label might take the form of the baggage checks now so generally in use, a sort of leather envelope, with an open face and solid back. The name and address of the child should be written on a card, which should be shoved into the envelope, perhaps fastened permanently therein, and if the little one then became lost the fear of not finding it again at all would be much mitigated. Many children who have wandered a little distance from their homes and become confused have been picked up by policemen and conveyed in all kindness to the nearest police station, where they have not infrequently waited for hours before the distracted mothers have ascertained their whereabouts. It might have only been a block or two from home at the time the policeman found it, or it was turned over to him by some bystander, and if the child's name and address had been attached to it in some such way as I have outlined it would have been taken direct to its home, possibly before its absence had even been noted."

NEGRO TOWN IN FLORIDA.

Most Unique Town in That State Is Situated About 127 Miles from Jacksonville.

The most unique town in Florida is Goldsboro, a place peopled entirely by about 300 negroes. Goldsboro is 127 miles from Jacksonville, on the Atlantic Coast Line railway, between the Florida metropolises and Tampa. Within its precincts no white person or member of any other nationality is found, and a negro mayor and negro council define the destinies of the community. A negro postmaster, appointed under a democratic administration, has charge of the government mail service, and dark-skinned night watchmen look after the stores and shops between sun and sun. The school system is, of course, operated under the regular guidance of the public school laws of the state, and applicants for positions as pedagogues are examined by the Orange county school board. Without a doubt, Goldsboro is well governed. There are few racial discords. The town jail is in great disrepute, and the population pays its taxes on an average with the ratio of whites in other Florida communities. With but few exceptions, negroes own every foot of land in Goldsboro, and that which they do not own they are buying on the installment plan from white people who hold deeds for the property.

The town is ten years old from a point of incorporation, and there have never been any riots or unusual disorders to mar its record. The community is very religious, and has three churches with rapidly growing membership rolls. A unique spectacle on Sundays during the spring and summer of each year is to see the devotional exercises attendant upon the administration of the rites of baptism, which is not conducted without loud and fervent crescendos of thankfulness.

Silent Letter.

The "u" with which so many Japanese words end is silent. A Japanese word can only terminate either in a vowel or in certain consonants, and if neither of these occur a silent "u" is added.
